

UNITED NATIONS CLIMATE ACTION SUMMIT 2019

The United Nations Climate Action Summit 2019 on 23 September 2019 brought together leaders from government, business, and civil society to discuss their current efforts in combating climate change and to announce concrete, future commitments for climate change action.

A screenshot of the United Nations Climate Action Summit 2019 website. The header features the UN logo, the text 'CLIMATE ACTION SUMMIT 2019', a green play button icon, and the UN emblem. A search bar is located in the top right. The main navigation menu includes 'THE SUMMIT', 'YOUTH SUMMIT', 'PROGRAMMES', 'FOR THE PRESS', 'ACT NOW', and 'UN AND CLIMATE ACTION'. The 'THE SUMMIT' menu is open, showing options like 'Overview', 'Announcements', 'Action Areas', 'Special Envoy for the Summit', 'Key Advisory Committees', 'Road to the Summit', and 'FAQ'. The main content area has a dark blue background with a wind turbine image and a white text box containing the following text:

The world is in a race to limit climate change. To meet the urgent need to address climate change and achieve the goals of the Paris Agreement, UN Secretary-General António Guterres is convening a Summit in September 2019 to raise ambition and increase climate action.

The race is on. It is a race we can win. It is a race we must win.

The young climate activist Greta Thunberg delivered a powerful speech holding global leaders accountable for the climate crisis and emphasizing the urgency of climate action for a better planet for today's youth and all future generations.

Video and Images: UN

